Time to Kill hunk

Altar-bound co-stars Sandra & Matthew

WATCH out, Sandra Bullock fans! Thrilled pals say the sexy Speed demon is on the fast track to the altar with Matthew McConaughey, her hunky leading man in the upcoming movie A Time to Kill.

The 32-year-old beauty vowed she'd never get hitched after her four-year fling with actor Tate Donovan went bust, but rising star Matthew, 26, changed her mind in a hurry.

"Things have mellowed out for me in the past year and I'm looking at marriage," Sandra admits. "I used to say I'd never get married, but now I know it will be.

"Matthew is the best thing to happen to me. He's a real powerful force in my life. I'm incredibly happy!"

Sources say the studly Texan is so smitten with Sandra, he hopped a jet to London, where she's shooting the epic romance In Love and War, and slipped into her trailer for torrid trysts.

"The door would be shut and locked and Sandra's aide would discreetly stand guard," a British press report reveals. "People bent over backwards to let them have some private time together."

When Matthew – who once dated Ashley Judd – isn't around, sultry Sandra is gushing about him like a schoolgirl.

"His name came up the other day and she sounded like a lovesick puppy, head over heels in love," says a source.

Kill hits the theaters next week, and they've already dubbed him the new Tom Cruise.

"Matthew is sexy in a dangerous boy-next-door way," says the courtroom thriller's director, Joel Schumacher. "This man is hot!"

And pals say Sandra is hot to tie the knot – boasting she and her main man are two peas in a romantic pod.

"We're exactly alike," she confides, "and there's a lot of love between us because we're alike.

"We are people who needed to meet. Matthew is a blessing."
